Wouldn't it be more conducive to resolving the problem to simply have said that in the first place? I'll review our submittal when I return to my office this afternoon and see how quickly I can get it taken care of for you.

I don't understand your email. The amount of rollover shown is justified by our expenditure cash flow report for the year. Please explain. If I've made an error I'm happy to correct that but I don't understand your email. Thank you.

Don,

Please send an annual report with the correct rollover amount. We are unable to process any payments for the BID until this is corrected.

Thank you.
